LONDON, April 10 (Reuter) - The British government on Sunday strongly advised its nationals in Rwanda to leave the strife-torn country immediately.

The Foreign Office issued advice for Britons to find French or Belgian troops to escort them to either Kigali airport or to join convoys heading for Burundi or Tanzania. "In view of the deterioration of law and order in Rwanda the French authorities are taking measures to evacuate their own and British nationals from the country. The Foreign and Commonwealth Office strongly advises British nationals in Rwanda to leave," a government statement said.
